SCORING PROGRESSION

- India's cumulative runs overtook WI's trajectory from ~over 22 onwards and widened steadily.
- WI 405/7 was formidable but insufficient — India crossed the target in over 44 (39 balls to spare).
- WI lost 4 wickets in death overs (41–50), halting what could have been a 430+ total.
- India lost only 2 wickets throughout — the chase was never under pressure.

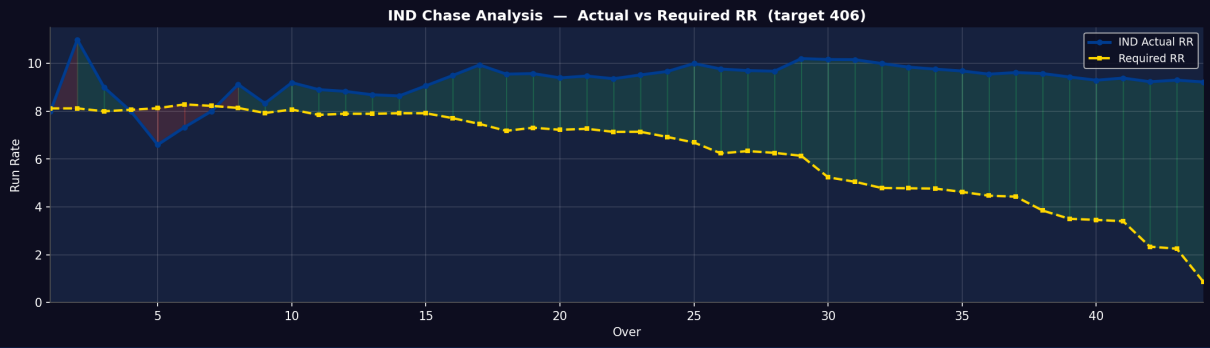

- WI's cumulative RR peaked at 9.60 (PP) but declined to ~8.10 by the 50th over.
- India's cumulative RR climbed to ~9.34 — scoring faster on average across the entire chase.
- India's middle overs (9.33 RPO) decisively outperformed WI's (7.77 RPO) for the same wicket cost.
- The two lines cross around over 25: from there India's scoring curve never looks back.

- WI's rolling RR peaked in PP (~9.6) then declined; India's was flatter and consistently higher.
- India's 5-over rolling RR stayed above 8.5 for most of the chase — remarkable consistency.
- WI's rolling RR dips sharply post over 40: 4 wickets derailed the innings.
- India's rolling-rate line shows no crisis trough — Rohit–Gill absorbed every challenging spell.

CHASE ANALYSIS

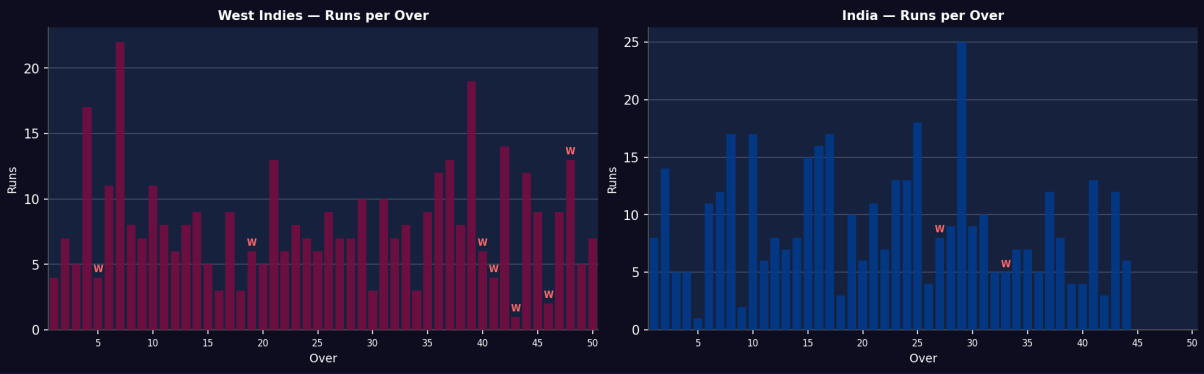

- India ahead of required rate from ~over 5 onwards — the green zone dominates the chart.
- Required rate started at 8.12 RPO; India's actual rate consistently ran at 9.0–9.5 RPO.
- By over 30, required rate had fallen below 6.0 RPO — the match was effectively decided.
- India completed the chase in over 44, winning with 39 balls (6.3 overs) to spare.

RUNS PER OVER

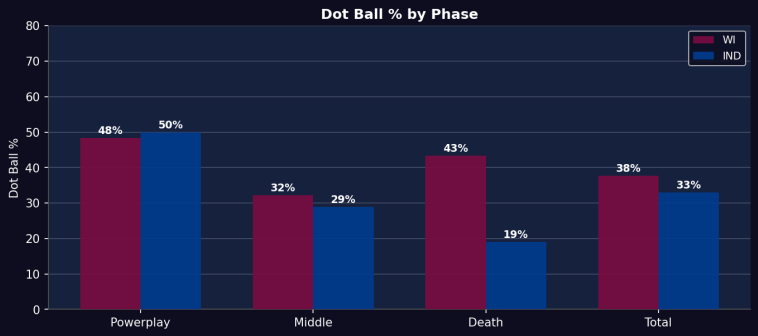

- WI's peak over: Over 7 (22 runs), but inconsistency in death (4 wickets, 76 runs in 41–50).
- India's peak over: Over 29 (25 runs); overall per-over scoring was far more consistent.
- WI's bar chart shows multiple low-scoring death overs caused by late-innings collapses.
- India had no collapse over during the chase — their distribution is notably flatter.

PHASE-WISE COMPARISON

- Middle overs decisive: India 280/2 vs WI 233/2 — 47 extra runs for the same wicket cost.
- Powerplay near-equal (WI 96/1 vs IND 92/0) but India's 0 PP wickets gave a priceless platform.
- WI death collapse: 76/4 in overs 41–50 — cost them at least 30–40 runs on a true total.
- India won without needing a full death innings (batted only 3.3 overs in overs 41–44).

Dot Ball % by Phase

- India's middle-over dot% (28.9%) = lowest of any team/phase — Gill & Rohit in supreme control.
- India's death dot% (19.0%) shows near-total freedom in the final 3.3 overs of the chase.
- India overall dot% 33.0% vs WI's 37.7% — India converted more scoring opportunities.
- WI's death dot% (43.3%) confirms India's bowling created real pressure in overs 41–50.

BATTING SCORECARDS

- WI: 3 centurions — Jangoo 114(77) SR=148, Hope 104(94) SR=111, Campbell 101(68) SR=149.
- India: Gill 223*(133) SR=168 with 26 fours and 8 sixes — one of ODI's great chasing innings.
- Rohit 101(75) SR=135; their 255-run opening stand made the result inevitable by over 28.
- WI's 3 centuries still weren't enough — India's SR advantage was the decisive factor.

V.Kohli	29	19	3	1	152.6	26.3%

Batsman Contribution (% of Team Total)

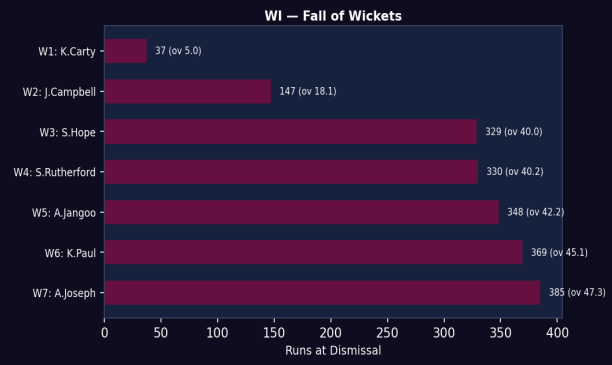

- WI top 3 contributed ~79% of team total — brilliant but dangerously top-heavy.
- India top 2 (Rohit + Gill) contributed ~80%; Gill's ~55% slice alone is historic for a chase.
- WI middle/lower order added only ~84 runs across 4 partnerships — failed to capitalise.
- Both charts reinforce: whoever wins the opening-order battle wins the modern ODI.

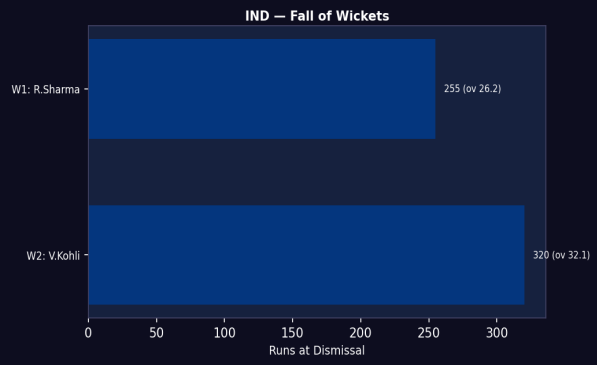

Boundary Distribution by Phase

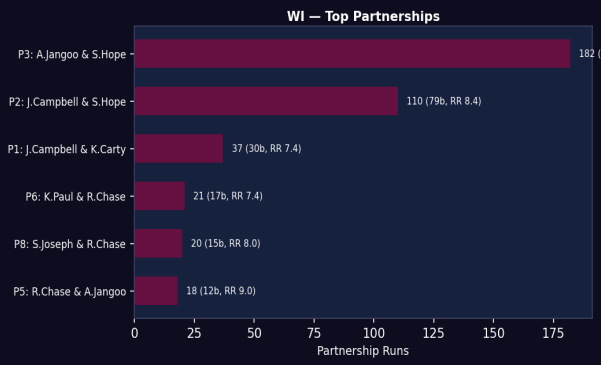

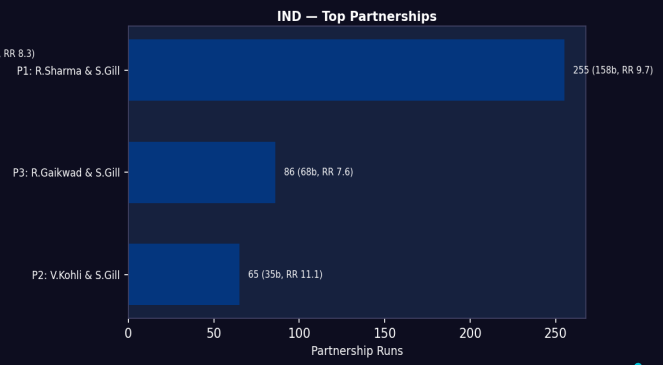

- Middle overs most boundaries for both: WI 22×4 + 6×6; IND 24×4 + 9×6.
- India hit more sixes in every phase (15 total vs WI's 12) — more attacking stroke-play.
- WI death boundaries collapsed (7 fours + 1 six in 10 overs) as wickets fell.
- India's PP boundary rate (10×4 + 5×6 in 10 overs, 0 wickets) set the foundation perfectly.

FALL OF WICKETS & PARTNERSHIPS

- WI: Jangoo–Hope 3rd-wicket partnership of 182(130) was the innings backbone.
- India: Rohit–Gill opening stand of 255(157) — among the all-time great chasing partnerships.
- WI's death collapse (4 wickets in overs 41–50) fragmented what should have been a 420+ total.
- Gill featured in all 3 India partnerships — the entire chase revolved around him.

BOWLING SCORECARDS

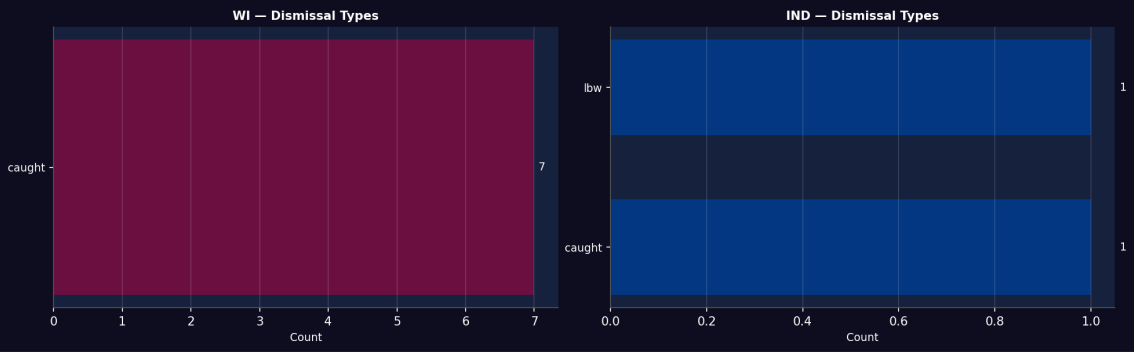

- India's best figures: Kuldeep Yadav 2/65 Econ 6.50; Ravindra Jadeja also took 2 wickets (2/75).
- Gurnoor Brar 2/96 Econ 9.60 — took wickets but cost India nearly 100 runs in 10 overs.
- WI's best economy: Roston Chase 7.41 — with ZERO wickets. The bowling attack was harmless.
- Alzarri Joseph 0/89 Econ 11.12 and Keemo Paul 0/49 Econ 16.33 highlight WI's powerlessness.

- No bowler from either team occupied the ideal zone (high wickets + low economy).
- Kuldeep Yadav closest to productive: 2w at 6.50 Econ — the standout performer with ball.
- All WI bowlers: economy >7.0 and ≤1 wicket — clustered in the worst quadrant.
- Keemo Paul (0w, 16.33 Econ) is the match's most extreme outlier with ball.

Dismissal Types

- India lost only 2 wickets in 43.3 overs — the dismissal chart is nearly blank.
- WI's 7 dismissals spread across multiple types shows India's varied bowling attack.
- No single WI batsman anchored the innings after the top 3 departed — middle order brittle.
- Dismissal chart visual summary: India barely needed their middle/lower order to feature.

MATCH VERDICT

India produced a stunning run-chase for the ages, overhauling West Indies's imposing 405/7 target with 8 wickets in hand and 39 balls to spare. S.Gill led the charge with an extraordinary innings of 223(133), anchoring a clinical chase. West Indies posted a formidable total powered by three centurions — a historic achievement — but India's batting depth and firepower proved too much on the day. The powerplay battle was crucial: India's 92/0 gave them a solid foundation, and they never looked back. Final: India won by 8 wickets.
